

Here's what parents are saying about Mrs. Kraemer and Mrs. Hill!

Our son had the great fortune to have Mrs. Kramer as his third grade teacher. We cannot say enough positive things about her as a teacher and as a person. She went above and beyond to engage him in subjects he struggled with and boosted his spirits when he had completely lost confidence in himself. She was extremely patient, gave him individualized attention, and explained concepts in a way that made sense to him and also managed to make it a fun experience. Mrs. Kraemer provided so much positivity, warmth and encouragement to him that her influence not only restored his confidence, but is now allowing him to thrive and perform above grade level in numerous subjects in which he previously struggled. As adults, we all remember the teachers who made the biggest impact on our lives; we are certain Mrs. Kraemer will be one of the teachers our son will always put in this esteemed category of life.

JoAnn Hill embodies what a true educator should be in every way and delivers the type of instruction you dream of your child receiving. She combines support, care, and motivation, to meet each child where they are while guiding them to where they are capable of going.

We were fortunate enough to have her as a teacher for both of our children, each of which had different learning styles. She brought out the very best in both. Several years later, she remains my absolute favorite educator and I would not hesitate to use her for any future educational needs.

Mrs. Kraemer is a veteran teacher with nearly two decades of experience. Not only is she incredibly well-versed in what kids need to know, her creative child-centered approach allows her to meet kids where they are in order to grow. During their work together, Mrs. Kraemer helped our son Jack develop confidence and mastery in his writing. No longer do we see resistance and defeat; Jack is now passionately engaged in a subject that used to be his most dreaded. We would recommend Mrs. Kraemer to any family hoping to support their child through an academic challenge.

Mrs. Hill taught both my daughter and son in 3rd grade at Brent ES. Though my kids are completely different in terms of learning styles and communication, Mrs. Hill was able to give to them both the structure that they needed, a warm learning environment, and skills that they use to this day in college and in high school. Skills that makes them strong readers, improved their comprehension, and ability to problem solve beyond math equations. Mrs. Hill is super inspiring and the time that my children spent in her classroom was beyond valuable. Mrs. Hill doesn't just show up...she is present and eager to give and bring out the best in the students that she teaches. My children have had several teachers after Mrs. Hill, yet Mrs. Hill is the teacher who is unforgettable.

Two out of our three children had the great privilege to have Liz Kraemer as their classroom teacher, and we could not have been more thrilled. Over the six years that we have known Liz and her colleague, JoAnn Hill, we have been thoroughly impressed with their diligence, caring attitudes toward their students, and their willingness to meet all students at their respective levels. We saw much growth in our children, both academically and socially, under the caring tutelage of Liz.

JoAnn Hill taught our now high school freshmen back in 3rd grade. Today, even after all these years, we see evidence of JoAnn's teaching skills in the work our daughter does in high school. We firmly believe our daughter would not be the strong writer she is today if she didn't have the opportunity to learn and grow under JoAnn's leadership. We couldn't recommend her more highly to anyone who is looking for a strong and supportive teacher for your child(ren).

It's safe to say that Ry's 3rd grade teacher, Mrs. Kraemer, was one of her very favorite teachers in all of elementary school (shhhh, don't tell the others!) Warm and encouraging to her students, Mrs. Kraemer has a knack for observing the individual child and addressing his or her particular needs to help them focus and learn. She is kind and supportive and uses stories about her own kids to connect with her students, which they love hearing! She also incorporates other non-academic but nevertheless extremely important social lessons into her teaching: how to make and keep friends, showing respect, and constructively sharing feelings with classmates. Innovative and driven, she is super communicative with parents which I really appreciate, and made my husband and I feel like we 3 were team players in our daughter's education. Mrs. Kraemer really has it all - and kids flock to her like the pied piper!

JoAnn Hill was our son's 3rd grade teacher and we really cannot say enough good things about her. She is energetic smart, kind and accomplished - a wonderful instructor whose considerable skills are reflected in the overwhelmingly positive way children respond to her. Our son thrived under her guidance and still, to this day nearly ten years later, she is one of his favorite teachers ever. JoAnn really understands kids and is a gem whom we would recommend as a tutor for any child.

Liz Kraemer taught two of our sons in the third grade. She was amazing. Both boys flourished in her class. Our older boy took an enormous leap forward in math and reading, and our younger soon took on class leadership roles and grew remarkably in responsibility and independence. Liz showed tremendous empathy and an interest in the children's growth at an individual level. She's a great teacher.

My daughter hit the jackpot when she had the privilege of being taught by JoAnn Hill when she was in 3rd grade. Joann was instrumental in encouraging the love of reading and writing and introducing the skills to be a strong English student. I would strongly recommend JoAnn for any student who is looking for a tutor.

Both of our sons had the pleasure of having Mrs. Kraemer for third grade and it was by far one of their best years. As we experienced with two children with differing personalities and needs, Mrs. Kraemer has a unique way of adjusting her teaching styles to meet individual needs. She introduced flexible and healthy ways of learning to students to help them channel their energy and provides amazing academic instruction and structure.
